Edmondson Park Town Centre Community Open Day invitation

Sydney – 19 August 2017 – Edmondson Park Town Centre will once again hold a Community Open Day on Saturday 26 August. The community will have the opportunity to ask the world-class designers questions and share their ideas to build a strong, vibrant community. We invite you to drop in anytime between 11am – 2pm.

The event will be held at the Ingleburn Military Heritage Precinct, Allen Avenue, Edmondson Park. Frasers Property Australia will bring experts from the project team to explain the vision for the development and answer questions.

With earthworks now in progress on-site, the Community Open Day will provide a progress update on all aspects of the development and will also be an opportunity to find out the status of the approvals process including the concept plan amendment and the upcoming development approvals to be lodged with Council.

Frasers Property Development Director, Warwick Dowler, said Frasers Property recognises that building a real community at the Edmondson Park Town Centre is more than just well-designed buildings and roads.

“While the physical design will provide an important foundation, the community is built through the interactions of people and the creation of a sense of place,” Mr Dowler said.

“I strongly encourage locals to drop in to the Open Day and give us their thoughts on what they would like for the Edmondson Park Town Centre community” Mr Dowler said.
