Pitching in for Clean Up Australia Day

Frasers Property volunteers heading to East Burwood Reserve

Melbourne – 22 February 2017 – Around 30 volunteers from Frasers Property Australia will roll up their sleeves on Tuesday 28 February to give East Burwood Reserve a little TLC as part of Business Clean Up Australia Day.

From 9am to 2pm, the volunteers will join Whitehorse City Council representatives to remove rubbish and help beautify the treasured local community parkland.

The team will then enjoy a well-earned barbecue lunch courtesy of SMEG. Journalists and photographers are welcome to attend to capture the volunteering effort.

Located at 298–336 Burwood Highway, East Burwood Reserve is in close proximity to Frasers Property's Burwood Brickworks mixed-use development and as such was a natural fit when it came to this year's Clean Up Australia Day focus, says Frasers Property Australia team leader Kahina Koucha.

"Each year we look forward to getting involved with Clean Up Australia Day to pitch in and support the local communities in which we're a part. East Burwood Reserve is a beautiful community area and we look forward to giving it a makeover," Ms Koucha says.

With a range of sporting and community amenities, East Burwood Reserve is very popular among Whitehorse residents. It's just a short walk to Frasers Property's Burwood Brickworks mixed-use development.

Frasers Property's vision will regenerate the former Brickworks site, creating a new community with a retail centre, parklands connecting to a civic plaza and a wide choice of home options.
