East Green event aims to connect the community

Perth – 3 March 2017 – Get set for an afternoon of fun, food, entertainment and free activities, as Cockman Park comes alive for ‘Greenwood Connect’, presented by East Green. The event will take place from 12-3pm on Saturday 25 March, in the parklands adjacent to Mulligan Drive.

East Green is a residential development on the former East Greenwood Primary School site developed in partnership between Frasers Property Australia and the Housing Authority.

Frasers Property’s General Manager Residential WA, Tony Perrin, encourages Greenwood residents to come along to reconnect with their wider community while taking the opportunity to learn more about East Green as the development prepares to launch to market.

“Greenwood Connect is all about families, friends and neighbours coming together to celebrate what a terrific part of the world they live in and to help foster a strong and active community spirit,” Mr Perrin said.

The event includes a schedule of live music and entertainment, martial arts and sporting demonstrations, as well as performances from community local groups. There will also be a bouncy castle, an animal farm, free face painting, community stalls and a delicious array of food and drinks on offer.

Cockman Park is adjacent to the East Green residential housing development, a partnership between Frasers Property Australia and the Housing Authority. It will feature a range of one and two storey housing options, varying from affordable one bedroom apartments to spacious three bedroom homes.

“East Green has been designed to address the rapidly changing and diverse housing needs of local residents, with dwellings nestled adjacent quality open public spaces that feature picnic facilities and encourage healthy, friendly community based lifestyles,” said Mr Perrin.

This dedication to lifestyle and community forms part of the development’s plan to achieve a 5 Green Star Communities rating from the Green Building Council of Australia. This accreditation represents a level of “Australian Excellence” that goes above and beyond industry standards and will be achieved by incorporating some of the latest environments innovations including several energy and water efficient utility systems; implementing a significant reduction of embodied carbon within the buildings; waste reduction and management solutions and the use of environmentally friendly and renewable building materials.

“From the very start we’ve had significant community engagement and input into the design process of East Green, and Greenwood Connect continues our commitment to this open and inclusive relationship with the local community, ensuring they are informed as the next phase of the project begins.”

Some parking will be available for Greenwood Connect visitors in the car park off Cockman Road, but where possible residents are encouraged to walk, cycle or catch public transport to the event.
