

Discovery Point proving pup-ular

Introduce your furry friends to the Wolli Creek lifestyle

SYDNEY, 31 MAY 2018

At Frasers Property Australia's Discovery Point, people are not the only residents enjoying the picturesque outdoor surroundings of the Wolli Creek community. Pets are too.

While apartment living is not typically pet friendly, Discovery Point, which still has three-bedroom apartments available nearby to expansive parks, is specifically designed to encourage an outdoor lifestyle for residents and their furry friends.

Nigel Edgar, General Manager – Residential NSW, Frasers Property Australia, says the dynamic of the family is changing and Frasers Property is building communities to meet evolving needs.

"Discovery Point reflects our emphasis on building communities for residents and their families, including their precious pets, to create an inclusive environment for families of all shapes and sizes to enjoy," says Mr Edgar.

"Pets are a very important part of peoples' lives and we're consciously building our communities to encourage pet owners to feel welcome."

At Discovery Point, dogs are playing a key role in their owners' social lives, ensuring residents remain active and more likely to speak with other dog owners.

"Walking around the community with your pet not only does great things for your health, it helps you meet other residents. You'll even find most coffee shops have a water bowl for dogs," says Mr Edgar.

For residents Jane and Roger, living in a pet friendly community was a must when looking for their new home.

"Our little 13-year-old dog has adapted to apartment living well. We take her down to the park every day so she can do her own thing," says Jane.

Jane says it's nice to see the community thriving with other residents and their dogs too.

"Quite often, I'll look onto the park and notice about 30 people playing with their dogs. You can tell they're having a good time just being outside."

With nine hectares of parklands at Discovery Point, Jane, Roger and their dog like to make the most of the green spaces and surrounding walkways.

"On weekends, we like to take the dog for a walk up the Cooks River, which is really accessible from here," says Jane.

With a very limited number of apartments remaining for sale at Discovery Point, there are still opportunities for people – and their pets – to enjoy the Discovery Point lifestyle.

In Marq, the two remaining three-bedroom apartments offer spectacular sunset views over expansive parklands perfect for animal owners to enjoy. They are priced at $1,135,000 and $1,150,000.

In Icon, the final residential building planned for Discovery Point, there are only three remaining three-bedroom apartments available, which boast panoramic park and Cooks River views and are priced between $1,210,000 and $1,335,000.
